

The good we cannot do to God because He has need of nothing, we should do to our neighbor for the love of God.

---

A head properly constituted can accomodate itself to whatever pillow the vicissitudes of fortunes may place under it.

---

To be effectively honest a man must be honest at heart. Honesty that comes through a bell punch is full of holes.

---

French history appears to be repeating itself. The Reign of Terror of one hundred and ten years ago is finding its duplicate in the reign of Combes, the apostate.

---

According to a decree of the Congregation of Rites, after the invocation—"Mother most Admirable" in the Litany of the Blessed Virgin, there should be added that of — Mother of Good Counsel.

---

"So far," says the New Century, "compared with the present treatment of the Church in European countries, the action of the United States Government in the Philip-pines is wise and tolerant." "That is true," answers the Cath-olic Columbian; "and compared with—say, the persecution un-der Nero, that action is benign. But compared with what jus-tice, truth, and treaty rights exact, it is damnable."

---

It is an old saying that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." To save Jack from the dreadful affliction of dullness, we let him run wild for eight weeks. But there is something worse than dullness. It is badness. Jack being idle is exposed to become bad; for being young, and able to evade